Simon's ambitious music project

AWARD-WINNING Pencaitland guitarist Simon Thacker will perform in Edinburgh this month as part of a ambitious music project funded by the Scottish Arts Council (SAC).

Simon and the Nava Rasa Ensemble, a unique new East/West group featuring nine of the UK's finest Indian and Western classical musicians, are performing two groundbreaking new concerti by India's Shirish Korde and the UK's Nigel Osborne during a 10-date tour funded by the SAC.

The musicians will perform at the Queens's Hall in the Capital on November 11 and will record a CD of the project at the conclusion of the tour.
