Guitarist Simon embarks on ambitious new project

Award winning Pencaitland guitarist Simon Thacker – above – is currently leading one of the most ambitious contemporary music projects to emanate from Scotland in recent years.

Simon and the Nava Rasa Ensemble, a unique new East/West group featuring nine of the UK's finest Indian and Western classical musicians will performing two groundbreaking new concerti by India's Shirish Korde and the UK's Nigel Osborne on a UK-wide 10-date tour.

Simon's group will perform at the Queen's Hall in Edinburgh on Wednesday, November 11 and record a CD of the project at the conclusion of the tour.
